BAND STORY

"~Mendoza~ has played in several bands ranging from Rock to Tejano music. He wrote and published his first song at the age of 12. That song entitled "When Will I See You Again" (Five Star Music Masters-Boston) was purchased by a major label, and encouraged him to write more. Most noted for his soulful vocal sound, his biggest success has come in the R&B and Hip-Hop market charting a number 1 hit "Let Me Be Your Guy" in the United Kingdom that actually enjoyed a six month ride on the top 40 there. After a successful stint as one of three front men for the Southern California band called "Cultural Diversity" in the early 1990's, ~Mendoza~ went solo and moved to Texas where he picked up his Spanish/Mexican roots music again and eventually recorded a single in 2005, called "Peligrosa" with award winning Tejano band Los Jalapeños that is still getting wide radio airplay in the US and Mexico. ~Mendoza~ is currently recording tracks for a new album called "No More Questionz" including the highly anticipated single called "I Can't Get Enough" that is produced by 3-Time Grammy Award winning super producer Urbano B from Urb Records in Texas. This song will feature Urb Records recording artist Tron on the track and is due out very soon. "Gotta Have U" is a Hip-Hop song written and performed by ~Mendoza~ featuring long time friend Nexxis, aka Larry "Tank" Jones. Most recently, ~Mendoza~ has started writing Spanish music again and has been working with Aldo Del Gado from Mexico on a track called "Te Quiero Tanto Ahora", Gilde Flores from GilFlo Productions (MTV Fame) on some Cumbias and Margarita "Baby"

Michael Jackson

Gone forever is probably one of the biggest influences on my musical career. I, like so many others of my generation grew up listening to all of those MJ Jamz...trying to mimick the moves that didn't seem possible...standing in front of the mirror trying to hit those notes.

The man was so misunderstood and unfairly judged by those that were probably simply jealous of his success? I don't know, but it is strange to see some of the very same people that I KNOW for a fact used to hate on this guy...and now all of a sudden they are instant followers of the legend that was, is, and will always be Michael Jackson.

I have been playing music since I was 5 years old and even though I was pretty good at hitting those Motown notes that I listened to daily, I still didn't consider myself a singer. It was not until I sang a Michael Jackson song at a club in Lufkin, Texas in 1983 (known then as Sid's) in a lady's ear as we slow danced to the song "Lady In My Life" that I would be convinced that singing was the new "Instrument" that I wanted to master.

I am not going to sit here and even lie...I miss this guy already and was so excited that he was going to make a comeback and squash some of these haters! I dreamed of taking my girls to a concert to see him live. There is a good reason why Michael was known and will be forever known as the "Greatest Entertainer of All Time"...if you ever saw him live like I have before...you would instantly agree with that title!

Planet Earth was made a better place by having him here. God Bless and Keep him!
